Report Summary

With their ability to time-shift television programming, personal video recorder (PVR) products have become an important component in the digital home entertainment ecosystem. Demand for PVR products remains strong, fueled largely by pay-TV service providers who are ordering and deploying PVR products in record numbers.

This report examines the market for personal video recorder (PVR) products. It discusses the functionality of today's PVR products and provides information about key PVR product manufacturers, leading service providers, and the important trends that are shaping the PVR market. The report provides worldwide PVR unit shipment and revenue forecasts, unit shipments to specific geographic regions, unit shipment forecasts by product type, and worldwide and US PVR product installed base forecasts.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Demand for PVR products is strong. Fueled by pay-TV service providers deploying PVR-enabled set top boxes, global unit shipments exceeded 25 million in 2008.
- Growth is projected to remain strong as PVR products become increasingly popular in Europe and Asia.
